Photographs of Germ-Laden Air Used by Woodbury to Back His Plea for More Money.

The Board of Estimate and Apportion ment began the first of its series of hearings today on the application of the various municipal departments for appro priations for 1903. On the calendar are the Departments of Bridges, Police, Taxes, Fire, Street Cleaning and Laws.

These departments have alrady put in their estimate, which show a large in crease over appropriations granted by the Van Wyck administration.

Lindenthal's Increa ...

Bridge Commissioner Lindenthal asked for an appropriation of $536,334, as against $397,143 asked for last year. *Why do you want all this money asked the Mayor. "It's an increase of 25 per cent," interjected Comptroller Grout. The board instructed the Commismioner to furnish a comparative table of expenditures in each department. Commissioner Partridge asked the Board for an increase of $421,850. He explained it by stating a large number of policemen were entitled to higher pay and that 300 new men were added to the pay roll. As an economic move Col. Partridge will employ civilian drivers for the patrol wagons. This will save $42,700 a BANISHED FOR TH bond asked was only $1,500, and Squires after giving it, disappeared.

It developed that he was then being sued for $25,000 by Ruth Whiting, eighteen years old, of Troy, who had replied to a similar advertisement and to whom he sent money to come to New York. She occupied the flat with Squires only two or three days when she complained to a lawyer and the suit for damages was the result.

But the story by Mrs. Adele Rinkel, a widow with two daughters, one fourteen years old and the other sixteen, was what appealed to the officers more than any. Mrs. Rinkel had borrowed $50 from Squires, giving him a mortgage on her furniture. She said that he then suggested that he rent a flat and that she and her daughters keep house for him. Not suspecting any wrong doing she consented, and the Manhattan avenue flat was furnished.

She said that despite his threats and his actual physical violence she was compelled to complain in order to save her fourteen-year-old daughter.

On Nov. 4, 1899, Squires was arrested on a warrant charging him with swinding a Western mining man out of $250. His plan was to float mining stock for the sales, claiming to have the backing of a number of the largest insurance companies and trust companies.

Fire Commissioner Sturgis explained his increase of $49,000 by stating that certain salary accounts were transferred from Brooklyn, a new battalion chief was named and that the cost of training school improvements was increased.

Street-Cleaning Commissioner Woodbury came before the board armed with shotographs as arguments for his piea for an increased appropriation of $445,-316. These photographs show the condition of the atmosphere in certain parts of the city. Where the streets are kept borhood is comparatively clear. In other sections the air is dust and germ laden.

These picturesn speak louder that more, "Why do you require such an enormous sum of meney?" asked the Mayor.

"We want more sweepers. We want to clean Brooklyn—Brooklyn has never been cleaned."
